Annex I

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Short description

I. The European Public Law Organization was created on 21 June 2007 as an international organization with headquarters in Athens, Greece, upon the initiative of the Hellenic Republic, by the "Agreement for the Establishment and Statute of the European Public Law Organization", signed by several powers on 27 October 2004. The Statute was already ratified by six parties, namely, the Hellenic Republic, the Republic of Italy, the Republic of Cyprus, Moldova, Serbia and Georgia. The Republic of France and Romania have officially announced that they are in the process of ratification, and several other countries have unofficially declared the same.

The purpose of the EPLO is the creation and dissemination of knowledge in the area of public law, including inter alia national, comparative and European public law, human rights law and environmental law, and the promotion of European values through public law throughout the world. To this effect, the Organization organizes and supports scientific, research, educational, training, teaching and institution building activities and provides assistance for democratic institutions in Europe and worldwide. In order to accomplish its purposes, the EPLO promotes the cooperation with other institutions and organizations and bodies, in particular organizations in the United Nations system.

II. The EPLO absorbed the European Public Law Center (EPLC), a non-profit organization of international character founded by an Act of the Hellenic Parliament in 1995.

The law that created the EPLC and the international Agreement that created the EPLO provided for the participation of Universities or other public or private authorities on its Board of Directors. The participation of Universities on the Board allowed them a decisive vote in the decision making of the Board whenever there was an issue relevant to a project in which the participating body in question was involved. In all other cases relating to the Center's activities, the participating body enjoyed a consultative vote.

Hence, please note that today the EPLO, as successor of the EPLC, has the honor to have, apart from the European Commission and the Council of Europe-Strasbourg, the Republic of Italy, the Republic of Cyprus, the Hellenic Republic, the Republic of France, Estonia, Serbia, the Republic of Moldova, the Republic of Azerbaijan, the Republic of Armenia, Ukraine and Georgia participating members in its Board of Directors.

Moreover, 50 universities and foundations also hold seats on the Board:

Please refer to the EPLO's website (www.eplo.int) for more information.

Annex II

SPECIFICATIONS

The EPLO as part of its obligations under its contractual agreement with the Foundation of the Hellenic World of the project “Integration of Artificial Intelligence in the field of Virtual and Augmented Reality, phase B” wants to purchase specialized Artificial Intelligence software/applications regarding subproject 2 “Purchase of specialized Artificial Intelligence software/applications”.

The chosen Service Provider should, at a minimum, provide the following services:

- Development of the IME-flix Video-on-Demand (VOD) platform and the accompanying IME-WebTV
- Design, development and customization of a bespoke Artificial Intelligence Digital Assistant (AI Agent), including the creation of a structured Knowledge Base and the delivery of a trained AI model
- Development of a Driving Simulation System, including the relevant pilot implementation and integration requirements, as specified in the project’s technical specifications.

Detailed description of the deliverables together with their associated technical specifications can be found in the attached file (Annex IV in Greek).

The chosen Service Provider should have completed all required actions described above by the 15th of December 2026.

Upon completion of the final acceptance of the deliverables of subproject 2, ownership of the delivered equipment and software shall be automatically transferred from the service provider to the EPLO and from the EPLO to the Foundation of the Hellenic World (FHW), without any further requirements/costs.
